Introduction

The Electronic Services Report displays 2002 holdings and service data submitted by 364 (98%) of the Commonwealth's 370 independent public libraries on the FY2003 Annual Report Information Survey. FY2002 expenditures data was reported by 362 public libraries (98%) on the FY2003 Financial Report form.

The following data items are new to this report: expenditures for electronic access and operating expenditures for online services.

FY2002 saw the opening of a joint public library in Massachusetts. The Hamilton-Wenham Public Library, funded with appropriations from the towns of Hamilton and Wenham, is located in a new building in Hamilton and replaces two previously independent libraries, the Hamilton Public Library and the Wenham Public Library.

Beginning with the FY2002 reports, data is displayed by individual main public library rather than by municipality. While this change will not affect the majority of municipalities, a change will be evident for Hamilton-Wenham and municipalities with multiple independent libraries. Communities with more than one independent library are Acton, Barnstable, Chatham, Dennis, Falmouth, Hardwick, Harwich, Natick, Northampton, Northfield, Shelburne, South Hadley, Warren.

In order to facilitate this change, the population groups have been renamed from 'Population Group A through H' to 'Library Population Group 1 through 8'. The new groups arrange libraries according to the population served by the library, rather than the population of the municipality.

The population served by each library is shown in the 2000 population column. For most libraries this continues to be the population of the municipality in which the library is located. For the Hamilton-Wenham Public Library, this is the combined 2000 U.S. Census population figures for Hamilton and Wenham. For multiple independent public libraries, this is the percentage of the municipality's total 2000 U.S. Census population determined to be served by each independent library. The total of the percentages for all libraries in a single municipality will not exceed 100%.

Thank you to all the libraries providing data. We applaud their efforts to capture an essential, expanding and evolving aspect of library service and encourage readers' comments about this report.

Appendix - Definitions Electronic Services, FY2002

Column Heading	Definition
2000 Population	Population from the 2000 U.S. Census. For libraries in municipalities with one independent public library, this is the population for the municipality in which the library is located. For multiple independent public libraries, this is the percentage of the municipality's population served by the library. For joint public libraries, this is the total population of the two municipalities.
Ebook Readers owned	Whether the library owned an ebook reader(s) for patron use as of 6/30/02. An ebook reader is a dedicated hardware device built especially for storing and displaying ebooks that has a high-quality screen and special capabilities for book reading such as annotating text and bookmarking pages. Examples include the Rocket eBook, the SoftBook and the Everybook. (D. Hawkins. "Electronic Books: A Major Publishing Revolution, Part I" Online 7/8-2000 p. 16) Excludes personal computers and digital assistants.
Electronic Access Expenditures	FY2002 operating and capital expenditures reported for providing library users with access to electronic resources and services. Includes operating expenditures for computer hardware, software, maintenance, dedicated telephone lines and Internet Service Provider fees.
Electronic Subscriptions	Number of subscriptions, as of 6/30/02, for materials in electronic format including individual publications and databases received through an automated network. Databases are counted by the name of the database not by the titles in the database. Excludes regional and statewide MBLC subscriptions available through the library's regional membership.
GUI Internet PC's	Number of GUI Internet terminals for patron use as of June 30, 2002. Graphical User Interface (GUI) allows the user to provide input and receive output interactively by manipulating menu bars, icons, and moveable, resizable windows by means of a keyboard and/or pointing device such as a mouse. Netscape and Internet Explorer are examples.
Library	Name of the municipality in which the library is located, followed by a shortened library name when the library is in a municipality with more than one independent library. In the case of a joint library, the name of the library is shown. The library data includes branch and bookmobile data.
